

September 18th, 2014

In-Class Activity (Mohan)

Iris Hall
Michael Lazimir

Character Profile: Jake Edwards

- First year engineering student.
- Enrolled in English, Calculus, Physics, Chemistry, and Women's Studies.
- Has a feminist girlfriend.

Classes & Grades

Subject	Current Standing, %	Required % to continue to next course	Required for program?	Percentage if activity neglected
English	72%	67%	yes
Calculus	61%	60%	yes
Physics	76%	60%	yes
Chemistry	69%	60%	yes
Women's Studies	84%	50%	no

Upcoming Assignments/Tests

Subject	Activity	Worth, %	Time Necessary	Due Date
English	Essay	10%	2.5 hours	Tuesday
Calculus	Quiz	7%	1.5 hours	Wednesday
Physics	Midterm	20%	3.0 hours	Wednesday
Chemistry	Lab Report	10%	2.0 hours	Wednesday

September 18th, 2014

In-Class Activity (Mohan)

Iris Hall
Michael Lazimir

Women's Studies	Group Project	15%	2.5 hours	Tuesday
-----------------	---------------	-----	-----------	---------

Jake has 3 hours of free time on Monday and 4 hours on Tuesday.

There is no way to make more time

*Unused time on Monday can be used for activities on Tuesday

*Possible outcomes for not studying can be written as a range (i.e. 4-7% loss)

Subject	Monday, hours	Tuesday, hours	Completed?
English
Calculus
Physics
Chemistry
Women's Studies

Which activities have you decided Jake should complete? Neglect? Why?

September 18th, 2014

In-Class Activity (Mohan)

Iris Hall
Michael Lazimir

	Description	Sequence	Choice
Specific Case	Activities student should complete for each class and their worth in percentage is given.	The due dates and time available to complete each assignment is shown.	Students make the choice that leads to the most favorable outcome.
General Background	Classes are listed and classified according to whether they're required for the student's program.	Minimum percentage necessary to pass to the next level of each course is listed. Failing means having to repeat course	Students evaluate which class the student can afford to fail.
	Classification	Principles	Evaluation